

Links from April 1, 2010 Show

Events

April 6, 2010

Online event – www.askaboutgluten.com

Ask Dr. Vikki about Gluten Sensitivity and Celiac.

Articles & News

Jamie Oliver's Food Revolution

This show, on ABC on Fridays at 9pm, is a must see for anyone concerned with the food we are currently eating in this country, especially the food we're feeding our children.

Alorex Celiac Management Gluten Intolerance Caps

This supplement, from Progressive Health, claims to be the best treatment for Gluten Intolerance, restore the intestine's ability to absorb nutrients and allows you to no longer avoid grains. I give my opinion on this week's show.

Group Targets Autoimmune Diseases

This month, the American Autoimmune Related Diseases Association hosted its first summit and was instrumental in getting the U.S. Senate to designate March as "National Autoimmune Diseases Awareness Month." The group is also trying to get the medical community to collaborate in research, funding and early detection of autoimmune diseases.

Farmers Group Touts Lentils, Other Healthy Legumes

Farmers hoping to capitalize on this interest have formed the American Pulse Association, a joint venture of the USA Dry Pea and Lentil Council and the US Dry Bean Council. One priority for the group is encouraging research to support ideas about legumes' health benefits. Another focus is getting the crops used more often in mainstream food manufacturing.

University Gluten-Free Movement Gaining Ground

At the University of Minnesota, the gluten-free movement is gaining ground, working to promote awareness about celiac disease and wheat intolerance in order to make necessary changes to the University's food selection.